Ribbon cutting ceremony for newly named street for local Springdale company

An official introduction to the community

Springdale, OH September 26, 2007—The City of Springdale and Sheakley, a local provider of business HR outsourcing solutions, are preparing to officially introduce their newly named street to the community on Friday, September 28th, at a ribbon cutting ceremony. Beginning at 1:30 p.m., the event will take place at the Sheakley North entrance off Tri-County Parkway in Springdale.

The idea for renaming the street came from employees during building improvement discussions. Along with aesthetic suggestions, employees suggested asking the City of Springdale if the through drive between Merchant Street and Tri-County Parkway could be renamed to Sheakley Way. With Springdale's approval the address will now be One Sheakley Way.

" We strive to respond to the needs of businesses in Springdale," said Mayor Doyle H. Webster. "In this case enhanced corporate identity was a priority for both Sheakley employees and management and we were pleased that we could contribute by re-naming the drive....Sheakley Way. Sheakley is one of our premier businesses along with the likes of G.E. Aircraft, Avon, CINCOM and Kroger. We are proud that they have chosen Springdale as their corporate home and wish them every success as they continue to grow and expand."

Larry A. Sheakley, CEO said, "This is a great celebration for our family and organization and I'm very excited with the renaming of our drive to the Sheakley name. Thanks to our valued customers and business partners, our business is thriving and we needed to make several building improvements to our facility. Our enhanced office space has been centered around employee requests and working conditions. Renaming the drive to Sheakley Way is the icing on the cake."

Those expected to attend the ceremony include Mayor Webster and other City of Springdale public officials, Larry A. Sheakley, CEO of Sheakley, along with Sheakley's management team, business partners including the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, and Sheakley employees.

Remarks will be offered by Mayor Webster and Larry A. Sheakley.
